2 Day workshop with International Trance Healer & Spiritual Teacher

Steven Upton

November 20th/21st 2010

Healing is an act of service, a service to God, the Spirit World and to people here who are in need.

This weekend is about learning how to access the healing power and meet those needs, learning how to serve.

We know that using the trance teaching techniques will enhance your healing mediumship and make a significant difference to the effect the spirit world can have on our patients.

This weekend is for all students, from absolute beginner to professional medium. My aim is to bring you into a closer relationship with the spirit healers.

This is about hands-on experience, not just listening, but doing. Join us on our journey of discovery.
